UBE Announces Absorption (Simplified Merger/Short-Form Merger) of Wholly-Owned Subsidiary API Corporation

UBE Corporation announced today that the company's Board of Directors resolved to implement a merger by absorption of its wholly-owned subsidiary, API Corporation (hereafter, "APIC"), which will take effect on December 1, 2024. Details of the merger are below.

Since the merger is a simplified and short-form merger between UBE and its wholly-owned subsidiary, some items and details of the merger have not been disclosed.

1. Purpose of Merger

UBE's pharmaceuticals business is comprised of a licensing business based on drug discovery research and a contract development and manufacturing organization (CDMO) business. The company positions the pharmaceutical business as an important business that will play a role in UBE Group sustainable growth driven by specialty chemicals.

In order to establish a high-quality and stable supply system to strengthen its presence in the CDMO market, which is expected to continue to grow, the company acquired all shares of APIC from Life Science Institute, Inc. (Representative Director: Ryosuke Tanabe), a Mitsubishi Chemical Group Company, in December 2022. APIC is a CDMO offering a wide range of services such as synthetic route design, commercial manufacturing research, pilot manufacturing, and commercial production, by making full use of integrated processes that combine organic synthesis technologies and biotechnologies it has cultivated over many years. APIC is also engaged in the business of proposing, manufacturing, and marketing active pharmaceutical ingredients (APIs) and intermediates using processes developed based on its own proprietary technologies.

UBE has actively worked on integrating operations with APIC. To further promote the sharing of the proprietary high-level manufacturing and quality control technologies of both companies, accelerate the development of new technologies, expand supply chain networks, and leverage the existing bases of both companies, UBE has determined it would be desirable to implement a merger by absorption of APIC.

2. Summary of Merger

(1) Schedule of Merger

Date of resolution by Board of Directors	December 21, 2023
Date of signing merger agreement	December 21, 2023
Effective date of the merger	December 1, 2024 (may be subject to change)

Note: For UBE, the merger is a simplified merger as prescribed in Article 796, paragraph (2) of Japan's Companies Act. For APIC, it is a short-form merger as prescribed in Article 784, paragraph (1) of the Companies Act. As such, the merger will be implemented without the approval of the respective general shareholders meetings.

(2) Method of Merger

Absorption-type merger with UBE being the surviving company. APIC will be dissolved as of the effective date of the merger.

(3) Shares Related to Merger

As an absorption-type merger between UBE and its wholly-owned subsidiary, no shares or money will be issued from the merger.

(4) Handling of Stock Acquisition Rights and Bonds with Stock Acquisition Rights as a Result of Merger

Not applicable.
